A Peek at Our Week

Reading: Next week we will revisit character traits. We will also be working on the RADD DUDE process. There will be a RADD DUDE test on Friday. The September reading logs are due this Friday! Please make sure your child has read 20 minutes, 4 days, each week. The log needs to include the date they read, title, and number of pages or length of time they read.

Math: We have been doing great with adding w/ regrouping! I've enjoyed challenging students by practicing adding into the hundred thousands! This week we will focus on subtracting with regrouping within 1,000. This can often be difficult for students, especially subtracting across zero's! I will focus on teaching students the concept of subtracting before I teach them the tricks. ☺

ELA/Writing: In writing, we will begin looking at the steps for writing an informational composition. We will begin this process by learning about main ideas and details.

Science/SS: We are finishing our Rocks and Minerals unit and will begin our first Geography chapter in SS!
